To make the blanket larger or smaller use a chain with an even number.

For this pattern you are doing alternating rows of half double crochet and slip stitches. There are 3 rows of each of the half double crochet and slip stitch.

On the half double crochet row you skip the slip stitch row and go back to the half double crochet row from before. This makes the slip stitch row turn out and show the top stitch texture.

This is followed by 9 rows of the rice stitch. Which is shown in Row 8. The alternating rows and the rice stitch is repeating twice.

Then, there is another group of the half double crochet and slip stitch. The middle is 16 rows of the rice stitch.

After the middle of the blanket you repeat the first side so it mirrors the beginning section.
